LABOUR SWEEPS POLLS IN BRITAIN

CHURCHILL QUITS: ATTLEE TAKES OVER

Mr. Winston Churchill goes the way of Lloyd George

AMERY THROWN OUT WITH MINISTERIAL CROWD

"Middle Class Revolution" Tolls Knell Of Tory Raj

LONDON, July 26. (Reuter): Labour Government is in.

Mr. Winston Churchill resigned to-night and the Labour leader, Mr. Clement Attlee, to-night accepted the King's invitation to form a new Government.

The latest position at 15-30 G.M.T. (10 P.M. I.S.T.) was: OPPOSITION candidates returned totalled 401, including Labour: 375, Liberals: 10, Independent Labour: 3, Commonwealth: 1, Communist: 2 and Independent: 10.

GOVERNMENT candidates returned totalled 203, including Conservatives: 188, National: 1, Liberal National: 14.

Net Labour gains totalled 203 and net Conservative losses 171.

At 8-45 P.M. (I.S.T.) the aggregate number of Government voters in the constituencies was about 4,000,000 and Opposition voters about 7,000,000.

OUTSTANDING DEFEATS

Close on a dozen Ministers have been defeated, including Sir James Grigg, the War Minister, and Mr. L. S. Amery, Secretary of State for India. Other Ministers defeated are: Mr. Harold MacMillan, Secretary for Air, Mr. Brendan Bracken, First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Hore-Belisha, formerly War Minister and now Minister of National Insurance, Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd, Minister of Information and Sir Walter Wolmersley, Minister of Pensions.

Mr. Churchill's son-in-law, Mr. Duncan Sandys, Minister of Works and Mr. Richard Law, Minister of Education. Outstanding defeats also include Sir William Beveridge, author of the famous Social Security Scheme, Sir Archibald Sinclair, and Sir George Schuster.

AT DOWNING STREET

LONDON, July 26 (Reuter and U. P.A.)—Mr. Churchill himself watched the defeat of his Party from the Cabinet Annexe of Ten Downing Street where he lived as Prime Minister for just over five years.

As news of defeat after defeat poured in at the battery of teleprinters, Mr. Churchill did not leave the office even for a cup of tea. Refreshments were brought to him and arrangements made for his lunch and other meals to be served at his desk near the machine.

Outside, in the usually quiet street, crowds, mostly Conservative supporters, blocked the entrance. The atmosphere was grave.

On the other hand at Tansport House—the nerve centre of the Labour Party—there was wild cheering as results were flashed on to the screen.

Mr. Churchill's most bitter critic in the Coalition Government, the Welsh ex-Miner Aneurian Bevan, leader of he Left-wing of the Labour Party, was re-elected as were Mr. Albert Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty in Mr. Churchill's Coalition Government, Mr. Arthur Greenwood, Deputy Leader of the Labour Party, Miss Ellen Wilkinson and Mr. Arthur Henderson, former Under-Secretary for War.

Sir Richard Acland, leader of the Commonwealth Party, which regards itself as more Socialist than the Labour Party, was defeated at Putney, polling only 2,686 votes against the Conservative 16,356.

Mr. Anthony Eden easily retained his seat at Warwick and Leamington in the Midlands defeating his Labour Opponent by over 17,000 votes. Mr. Eden had been unable to defend his constituency in person owing to illness.

The only prominent member of the Conservative Party who made a good showing is Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden who polled 60 per cent of the vote of his constituency.

Even in Mr. Churchill's own constituency, Woodford, an obscure shoemaker, whose vote appeal was based largely on a platform of one hour of

Sir Stafford Cripps who is tipped for the India Office

Sensational Landslides

LONDON, July 26. (Reuter).

Britain has decisively elected a Labour Government. The Party, led by Mr. Clement Attlee, assumes power with an overwhelming majority—guaranteeing for the first time in Labour's history absolute supremacy in the House of Commons, cables E. Fraser Wighton, Reuter's political correspondent, who forecasts that Lord Listowel is the most likely candidate to succeed as Secretary of State for India, Mr. Leopold S. Amery, himself defeated in Sparkbrook. Political circles in London, including Nationalist Indian leaders, says Wighton, regard Lord Listowel, former Under-Secretary for India as a "very probable choice" for the Secretaryship. He is an earnest student of Indian affairs who, while at the India Office, was eager to end the Indian deadlock.

SENSATIONAL LANDSLIDES

Failing the selection of Lord Listowel, the Secretaryship is likely to be offered to Sir Stafford Cripps, bearer to India of the British Government's 1942 offer; but it is stated that while there is doubt that Sir Stafford's ambitions lie in the direction of India, Lord Listowel would probably welcome the portfolio.

Labour's outright success is a sequel to one of Britain's most sensational political landslides in which the Conservatives, led by Mr. Winston Churchill, suffered a debacle of dimensions that dumbfounded even the most optimistic Labour enthusiasts.

VICTORY FOR SOCIALISM

Mr. Clement Attlee, the Prime Minister-elect, in an exclusive statement to Wighton, summed up with the sentence "This is truly a very remarkable and gratifying result".

Continuing he said: "It shows that the electorate will respond to a clear and definite policy based on principles, and on the application of these principles to the needs of the present day. This is the first time in the history of this country that Labour has truly had a clear majority. That in itself will enable us to implement the policy of the Socialist Party.

AT TRANSPORT HOUSE

Just before Mr. Attlee left Transport House, the nerve centre of the British Labour Party, within sight of the House of Commons—he received the congratulations of Mr. John Winant, the United States Ambassador in London, who telephoned him to pay his respects.

There was terrific enthusiasm at Transport House and Mr. Attlee was "mobbed" by the crowd who thunderously cheered when he appeared.

THE RESULTS

Britain's swing to Socialism was discernible soon after the first results came filtering through. Almost invariably the story was the same—Labour gain and Conservative loss.—and an ever increasing Labour majority.

The trend became more and more marked and was spotlighted by the

Mr. Clement Attlee—shy, shrewd and unshakable

The New Premier

Walter Davis, Reuter's Parliamentary editor, gives the following penpicture of Britain's new Prime Minister-elect—Mr. Clement Attlee:

The sixty-two year old leader of the Labour Party has been and often is under-estimated by those who reckon ability in terms of glamour or oratorical excellence.

Attlee is a shy man. He makes no parade of his personality or his virtues. Psychologists interpret his habit of always sitting on the edge of his chair at Labour meetings as an attitude typical of a diffident, modest man, lacking self-confidence.

Mr. Attlee is intensely loyal to his colleagues, shrewd and unshakable in his honesty. He seems to exhale caution, for he preaches only what in his opinion might be practised.

Not a few of his followers see in him little of the driving force which animates his other Labour colleagues, such as the forceful Mr. Ernest Bevin or the persevering Mr. Herbert Morrison. Success for the last-named boils down to "all or nothing". To Mr. Attlee, once an imperialist and tariff reformer, success is a sequel to experiment and will to win.

It has been said that Mr. Attlee is only a figure-head among Socialists and that his policy is controlled by the backroom "caucus" ruled by Prof. Harold Laski. Recent events may or may not have disproved this opinion, but the life and work of the Leader of the Opposition in Parliament which, came to an end last month point to a quiet strength which may throw off any such political fetters if and when necessity arises.

Lacking the personal popularity of Mr. Churchill, Mr. Attlee relies on his conviction that his political beliefs are for the good of the British and the world.

Mr. Attlee was Parliamentary Secretary to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and held various Ministerial posts in the first Labour Government. One of his heaviest tasks was as member of the Indian Statutory Commission in 1927.

He was Deputy Prime Minister in Mr. Churchill's Coalition Government.

U. S. Senator Accuses British Navy

WASHINGTON, July 26. (Reuter): Senator Thomas Hart, formerly Admiral commanding the United States Pacific Fleet and now a Republican Senator, criticized the British Navy in the Senate debate on the United Nations charter, cables William Hardcastle Reuter's special correspondent.

Senator Hart said: "It is known that a detachment of the British navy is fighting with our forces in north-west Pacific. Admiral Nimitz does not need those forces because by the time they joined him, he had already beaten the Japanese navy at sea and in the air."

He added, "If many months ago the British Navy had brought amphibious power into action from the Indian ocean an extremely effective contribution to the Pacific War would have resulted. Why was the drive from the Indian Ocean not started some time ago? To my mind, the reason the British did not drive into the Netherlands East Indies and through the Malay barrier was simply that they felt they could not. The British were tired from long years of war, and despite their sincere promises, we of the United States had best realize that our own force must continue to bear the main brunt of the war in the Pacific".

STOP PRESS

CALL ON JAPS TO "CEASE FIRE"

BERLIN, July 26. (Reuter): The United States, Britain and China have issued a joint statement to Japan, calling upon her to cease resistance or see their homeland utterly destroyed, says Reuter.

WHERE IS ABDUL GHAFFAR KHAN?

PESHAWAR, July 26, (U. P. I.): Khan Ali Gul Khan, who left for Kohat this morning to bring Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan back from Khushalgarh informs the "United Press" through telegraphic communication that the Frontier Gandhi spent the night at Khushalgarh and boarded the morning train in the direction of the Punjab. The destination is not yet known and further details regarding his whereabouts are still a mystery to the Frontier people who appear greatly worried.

CLEAN SWEEP OF AMERY REGIME HAILED

Congress President Welcomes British Voters' Verdict

CALCUTTA, July 26. (A.P.I.): "The news of the defeat of Mr. Amery is good", said the Congress President, Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, when it was convened to him.

DEEDS WILL JUDGE LABOUR

BOMBAY: Congress reaction to the Labour victory was summed up by the remarks of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel who said: "We shall judge the Labour Party by what they do after they have formed the Government and not by the results of the elections.

When they had their Government on a previous occasion, we had a very bad experience. We hope that this time, having a good majority, they will live up to their professions".

LABOUR'S OPPORTUNITY

Mr. S. K. Patil, General Secretary of the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee, said: "Although the people of this country have been trained to depend upon their inherent strength to get their independence, the Labour victory is no doubt a matter for great relief. If Labour translates all its professions into action, as it has got an opportunity to do now, they can do a lot to bring about real democracy to this world. So far as the present political situation is concerned, much can be expected out of the Labour victory."

STRANGE IRONY

CALCUTTA: The fall of the Churchill Government will be hailed by India as the deserving end of a reactionary administration which shamelessly stood against our rightful claim for political emancipation said Dr. Shyama Prasad Mookerjee, President of the All-India Hindu Mahasabha in an interview. Dr. Mookerjee added: "To every self-respecting Indian, no matter which party or community he may belongs to, Mr. Amery's defeat is the most welcome news. By a strange irony of fate, justice has been meted out to him and India's call is responded to by the British electorate of Birmingham. Let me emphasise, however, that what we want is not mere removal of individuals but a change of British policy towards India, leading to our country's freedom. The Labour Party faces a tremendous responsibility at this juncture."

NAZIMUDDIN SURPRISED

Sir Nazimuddin, ex-Premier and member of the Working Committee of the All-India Muslim League, said: "I am surprised at the results."

"Very good news indeed", said Mr. N. M. Joshi, General Secretary of the All-India Trade Union Congress.

Mr L. S. Amery goes. But what about India Office?

He added: "Indians, particularly the working classes of India, should welcome the advent of the British Labour Party to power in view of their sympathy with the cause of subject nations in the world and specially in view of their commitments in regard to India."

CHANGE ALWAYS WELCOME

NEW DELHI.—"India is genuinely glad at the success of Labour", said Mr. Bhulabhai Desai. "The outlook for world politics will be radically

Attlee Looks For

New World Of Peace And No War

LONDON, July 26. (Reuter): Mr. Clement Attlee, Britain's Prime Minister-elect, in a statement to Reuter said:

"I am asked for an indication of my answer to the question: How will Labour conduct its foreign and international policy? I reply that "the Labour Party went into the election on a carefully thought-out programme based on very definite principles."

"In foreign affairs we have a long tradition and policy which we endeavoured to put into force in the days when Mr. Arthur Henderson was our Foreign Secretary. We have never swerved from our position of the need for a new world order for the prevention of war.

"Equally we have had a world economic policy based on an endeavour to raise the standard of living of the masses all over the world.

TOWARDS SOCIALISM

"Our home policy is in consonance with our foreign policy. The results show that the electors understood that policy and they have realised that Labour has the will and the men to carry it out.

"This is a very remarkable and gratifying result. It shows that the electorate will respond to a clear and definite policy based on principles and on the application of these principles to the needs of the present day.

"This is the first time in the history of this country that Labour has ever had a clear majority. It will enable us to implement the policy of the Socialist Party.

"A remarkable thing about these electoral returns is the heavy Labour vote throughout the country, not only where Labour has been strong previously, but in different districts, rural, urban, manufacturing and residential. Every kind of constituency has shown a great increase in Labour votes.

NEW ERA

"Labour has been fortunate in having a fine lot of candidates, including a great many young servicemen, who will bring to the new House of Commons the spirit of new age.

"We are facing a new era and I believe the vote at this election has shown the people of Britain are facing that new era with the same courage that they faced the long years of war.

"I am confident British Democracy can make a tremendous contribution to the building up of world peace and prosperity".

GLOWING TRIBUTES TO HORNIMAN

Gave Half Century To India's Freedom Cause: Purse Presented At Taj Function

Golden tributes to the invaluable services rendered by Mr. B. G. Horniman to the cause of Indian nationalism and journalism were paid by several prominent citizens at a meeting held in the spacious banquet hall of the Taj Mahal Hotel held on Thursday evening under the auspices of Horniman Golden Jubilee Committee.

Sir Chimanlal Setalvad, Chairman of the Committee, who presided, presented Mr. Horniman a handsome silk purse containing the amount collected by the Committee in honour of the occasion.

Mr. Horniman received a thunderous ovation from a large and distinguished gathering when he entered the hall. Different organisations and several individuals paid homage to the veteran journalist and he was literally buried in a heap of garlands.

Nearly two score organisations, representing manufacturers, film-producers, insurance companies and the newspaper industry as well as student and Labour organisations associated themselves with the function. In the pile of garlands and bouquets, was a garland of gold-thread which was presented by Mrs. Bapsey Sabavala.

Sir Chimanlal Setalvad, referred to Mr. Horniman's distinguished journalistic career. Sir Chimanlal took a "great and peculiar pride" in the function as he was one of the founders of the "Bombay Chronicle" and also one of those who selected Mr. Horniman as its first editor. Mr. Horniman, he said, had all these years been fighting for India. It was true that in the old days there were some English journalists like Mr. Knight of the 'Statesman' and Mr. Marmaduke Pickthall who later became the editor of the 'Chronicle', but Mr. Horniman stood in a class himself for he had made India his home and his motherland.

Sir Chimanlal recalled his earliest associations with Mr. Horniman and narrated the part he played as his counsel in some of his legal battles. Mr. Horniman, said the speaker, had vehemently criticised and denounced all manner of injustice and oppression. His recent defiance of the Allahabad High Court was one instance among many in which he had spurned authority in the cause of justice.

Concluding he said that Mr. Horniman had become an institution in India and the examples set by him would guide and inspire future fighters in the cause of justice and freedom."

MAYOR'S TRIBUTES

Dr. Jos Alban de Souza, Mayor of Bombay, deemed it a privilege and an honour to associate himself with the 'magnificent' function. He des-

NOW BETTER THAN EVER

"SWELL NATION'S PURSE TO NEHRU"

All-India Students' Congress Call To Student World

The General Secretary of the All-India Students' Congress has issued the following appeal to the student world of India:—

The historic week of August is again coming near. This is the week in which India took great decision and suddenly leaped forward into a glorious future. That week has sacred memories which should remain fresh in every Indian heart and the days should be properly celebrated with a befitting programme.

The All-India Students' Congress, the premier student organisation of India, has decided to observe this week as "Nehru Week" as our humble tribute to the services and sacrifices of the unquestioned leader of the Indian youth—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. Every Indian student and youth has been thrilled by the dignified declaration of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on the August Revolution and those who were forsaken have been courageously and proudly owned by him. Even for this single act the nation and especially young India should be deeply grateful to him. I know all those who fought bravely in the August Struggle are grateful to Panditji, but let us express this gratitude in a concrete manner. The All-India Students' Congress feels that there can be no better way of expressing our loyalty to Panditji and the cause for which he stands than participating in the collections for 'Nation's Purse to Nehru'. The Working Committee of the A.I.S.C. has already passed a resolution calling upon all the units of the A.I.S.C. to take up this programme. I have fixed the August Week for this programme as it is the most appropriate time for this collection. I make this final appeal to all our twenty-two provincial Units, the 800 district units and our two lakhs and thirty-seven thousand primary members all over India to observe the 'Nehru Week' and devote it to the cause of Kamala Nehru Memorial. Vigorous efforts should be made by every one of our units to make maximum collections through the sale of donation tickets, moving from house to house with boxes, sale of Jawaharlal and Kamala Nehru's photographs, cultural rallies and such other programme as may suit the local conditions. I may state here for the information of our workers that the Central Committee of the 'Nation's Purse to Nehru' has decided to earmark the students' contributions to the Purse for constructing a special ward in the Kamala Nehru Hospital to be named as the 'Students' Congress Ward'.

Let my comrades all over India work enthusiastically, vigorously and earnestly to make the Nehru Week a grand success. Let every city, every college and every school reverberate with the inspiring national slogan—"Pt. Jawaharlal-ki-Jai".

U.N.R.R.A. ORGANISATION AND INDIA

The Committee have also urged that the Government of India should secure an assurance from the U. N. R. R. A. Organisation that an adequate and fair share will be given to Indian nationals in the recruitment to the U. N. R. R. A. Organisation.

THREE YEARS' JAIL FOR STABBING

(Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Lokur and a Common Jury)

Emperor
v.
Shaikh Jangu Shaikh Magdum .. .. Accused.

The accused, a young Muslim hawker, was charged with having attempted to murder one Chilarbi by stabbing her on the night of 31st January last.

Chilarbi was twenty years old and a native of a village near Hyderabad. Married three years back, her husband was since on military service and she lived with her parents. An old woman with whom she became acquainted lured her to Bombay and introduced her to the accused as the person who would take her back to her village. The accused took her out and ultimately ravished her. As she refused to accompany the accused to the fair at the Haji Malang Dargah and insisted that the accused should take her back to the old woman's house, he stabbed her and ran away, leaving her on the road with a knife plunged in the abdomen.

The defence was one of 'alibi.'

The Jury unanimously found the accused guilty of attempt to commit culpable homicide not amounting to murder. His Lordship sentenced him to three years' R.I.

Mr. H. J. Chinoy instructed by the Public Prosecutor appeared for the Prosecution.

Dr. P. N. Daruwalla defended the accused.

"Humble Witnesses Are Truthful"

(Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Chagla).

Mansukhlal Sukhlal Tarwala & Co. .. Plaintiffs.
v.
Kalidas Dhirajlal .. Defendant.

Observing that in his experience his lordship had not found that high-salaried officials had a particular aptitude for speaking the truth and that his Lordship had found that "humble witnesses are as capable, if not more, of speaking the truth as those who are better placed in life", His Lordship accepted the evidence of one Nanalal, a clerk in a firm of brokers and decreed the plaintiffs' suit for Rs. 52,793-12-0.

The plaintiffs claimed this amount as being due to them as a result of transactions in cotton for the July, 1943, settlement effected by them under the instructions of the defendant as his brokers. The plaintiffs alleged that they had discharged their liability in the market.

The defendant admitted the transactions but contended that they were void as no contracts for these transactions had been rendered to him. He also contended that he had given instructions for these transactions not to the plaintiffs but to the firm of the same name in Ahmedabad.

His Lordship accepted the evidence of Ratilal Jumakhram, a partner of the plaintiff-firm, as well as of his clerk Nanalal, and held that the plaintiffs had established their case.

Mr. S. R. Tendolkar and Mr. D. B. Desai instructed by Messrs. Desai & Co. appeared for the plaintiffs.

Mr. S. T. Desai and Mr. S. H. Gujar instructed by Messrs. Kanga and Co. appeared for the defendant.

Sir C. P. Rules Out Adjournment On Issue Of Ban On Communist

TRIVANDRUM, July 25. (A.P.I.) In the Sri Mulam Assembly today, the Dewan-President, Sir C. P. Ramaswamy Iyer ruled out of order an adjournment motion tabled by Mr. Sankara Narayanan Tampi. It sought to discuss the "political situation created in the country by Government serving a ban order on Mr. P. T. Punnoose, Secretary to the Communist Party of Travancare, after his release from detention". Mr. Tampi said that the order curtailed civil liberties.

The Dewan-President ruled the motion out of order on the ground that it was not consistent with public interest. The Order, said Sir Ramaswamy Iyer, was served on Mr. Tampi because a speech made by him was so inciting and dangerous to public safety that for sometime at least he had to be prevented from indulging in such speeches. The matter fell within the discretion of the Executive and he could not allow it to be discussed in the Assembly, the Dewan-President added.

Indian Exporters' Grievances

The Secretary, Indian Importers' Association, Bombay, writes:—

The Committee of the Indian Exporters' Association met Mr. K. G. Menon Chief Controller of Exports, Government of India, on Wednesday and discussed with him several problems pertaining to the export trade of India. Adverting to the question of exports to the liberated territories of Europe, the Committee pleaded for protection of interests of Indian shippers as against the foreign ones who held a monopoly of our export trade. Mr. Menon replied that the Government would give due regard to the suggestions made by various trade interests on this question.

The Committee drew the Chief Controller's attention to the unremunerative prices fixed by the Government for the export of cotton hardwaste which was detrimental to the interests of India. It was pointed out that the price fixed for this commodity was at a pre-war level which, compared unfavourably with the prices of other commodities which had doubled and trebled. Consequently this commodity was taken away by foreign countries at an incredibly cheaper rate. The Committee, therefore, pleaded for fixing a reasonable local ceiling price as well as a corresponding export price. Mr. Menon promised to consider the matter.

Extra Basic Ration

The increased basic petrol ration which has been announced by Government will be issued from the quarter commencing August 1, 1945. The authorities will announce in the Press when applications for the additional ration are to be made. Meantime, motorists can get their usual basic ration by applying in form "H" to the W. I. A. A. if they are members of the Association.

HISTORIC TRIUMPH

The results of the recent British election will remain historic. For the first time in the history of Britain the Labour Party comes into power as well as to office. Twice before Britain was governed by a Labour Cabinet but that Cabinet failed to carry out its programme because it had to depend on Liberal votes for its majority. For the first time in history it has won a clear majority over all other parties combined. Though the Liberal Party ran over three hundred candidates the results show that the contest was a straight one between the Conservative and Labour parties. The outstanding features of the verdict of the electorate are: the destruction of the Churchill leadership myth, the virtual disappearance of the Liberal Party and the amazing and undisputed confidence that the voters, not in many but in all parts of Britain, have shown in the Labour Party. Not only has Mr. Churchill's enormous majority dwindled down but his followers have also hardly been able to secure half the number of seats won by Labour. As the Paris radio says, the result of the election is literally disastrous for Mr. Churchill. And Mr. Churchill deserved this defeat and this humiliation. Wrongly advised by Lord Beaverbrook and his Party bosses he gambled on his war-time popularity by forcing an election on the country at short notice. But the trapper himself has been trapped. Not only did he grievously miscalculate in having an election at the time he did; he also blundered egregiously in his election campaign. From the unprecedented heights of popularity he had won as a war leader he descended to the lowest depths of an abusive huckster. The inevitable Nemesis has overtaken him. Inspite of, if not because of, his disgraceful propaganda against Labour his party has not won a single seat from Labour but has lost many to the latter and a number of his colleagues in the Ministry and his son and son-in-law have been defeated.

The swing to Labour has been clear and complete. The Labour Party has won more than two hundred seats from all other parties. The rout of the Conservatives—it is significant that in many hitherto Conservative strongholds like Birmingham and Liverpool Labour has scored heavily—and the tragic destruction of the Liberal Party definitely indicate that the majority of the British people desire a clear-cut departure from the vague time-worn and discredited policies and programme of the older parties. They admired Mr. Churchill as a great war leader, but they know that it was not he alone who won the war, but that they themselves, the people of Britain who helped to win it. They also cannot forget that the Conservative Party, with its Munich surrender and its appeasement of the Nazis, was largely responsible for the war. And, above all, they are quite convinced that while Mr. Churchill's leadership was necessary during the war, he, with his Beaverbrooks and Oliver Lyttletons and other Big Business bosses, was the last person to be entrusted with the task of winning the Peace. It is as certain as night follows day that if Mr. Churchill had won the election, Peace would certainly have been lost and a third World War would not have been long in coming. A Labour Government would certainly be friendly to Russia and would not deliberately embark on policies threatening the liquidation of the United Nations Charter. So far as the Middle East and India, Burma and Malaya are concerned there is, indeed, considerable cause for misgiving if we are to judge from the recent utterances of some prominent Labour leaders. British Labour is a sworn foe of Fascism and Nazism, but it is not above flirting with Imperialism. The crucial test of the integrity of its policy and programme will be found in the way it handles the Indian question and the problem of the old Imperialism of Britain, France, Holland, Italy and the neo-imperialism of Russia. But for the first time in its history it has got the power to make good its promises and all those who earnestly yearn for a new World Order will wish it success, provided it honestly and firmly tries to translate its ideals into action and does not seek to confine its beneficent activities to Britain and Europe while hypocritically conniving at, if not helping, the political domination and economic exploitation of the people of Asia and Africa.

Exit Amery

One almost feels sorry for Mr. L. S. Amery because an old man and a veteran Parliamentarian must now end his political career not in triumphant retirement but in defeat in his own ancient stronghold. And yet one cannot help feeling gratified over his exit. India is not so very much interested in the explanations and pleas frequently advanced on behalf of Mr. Amery to the effect that he was personally quite friendly and sympathetic to Indian aspirations but that the real villain of piece, so to speak, has all along been Mr. Churchill. Why did he allow himself to be so completely dominated by Mr Churchill and Lord Linlithgow? He might have had at least the courage shown by Lord Wavell. The defeat of Mr. Amery is also gratifying because it shows a swing to the Left. But while we welcome the victory of the Labour candidate over Mr. Amery we must frankly confess to a sense of disappointment that the victor should not have been Mr. Palme Dutt.

Frankly Speaking

Overdoing It

If Malik Khizar Hyat wanted to expose his regime as concerned first and last with subservience to British imperial policy and that, too, without sense or imagination, he could not have done it better than through the Khan Abdul Ghaffar incident. Where was the sense in the Attock Magistrate's serving an order on Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan not to enter the Punjab when the Congress leader was only to pass through it? We ask where was the sense in it because it would be too much of a compliment to the Punjab authorities to put the question in the name of patriotism or of respect for a great national leader and the national organisation. But even those whose whole existence is bound up in officious subservience to anti-Indian and anti-Congress policy, ought to have had eyes and brains to realise that in their zeal for the maintenance of—Law and Order and the tranquillity of the Punjab?—they were going against the policy recently initiated by Lord Wavell, "Loyalty" should have its limits, at the very least the limits prescribed by the British Government and the Viceroy.

Partially Retrieved Bungling

It is something that the Punjab police who arrested Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan took him to the Kohat District in the Frontier Province and let him off there. It would have been more decent to let him pass through Attock District, particularly because he had informed the District Magistrate that he had no intention to make any speeches there. Clearly there has been some bungling, of which the prompt release is the only redeeming feature. The Punjab Government, it is said, knew nothing of the arrest when it took place and is now understood to be ascertaining all the facts of the case We expect that the Frontier leader will await for some time the considered decisions of the Government and the local authorities before making his own decisions. It will be good for all to let such a beneficent leader, appropriately called Frontier Gandhi, go through his programme of service without any official restrictions and pinpricks.

Desai-Liaquat Pact

It is time now that what has come to be known as the Bhulabhai-Liaquat Ali Pact should be published. It has had a rather chequered career. We do not know when exactly it was born. But its existence began to be whispered about, the whisperings growing louder and wider. When the public had settled down to its acceptance as an established fact then—but only then—it was suddenly repudiated simultaneously, which is significant, by Mr. Jinnah in Bombay and Nawabzada Liaquat Ali Khan in South India. The repudiation was definite and categorical because it asserted that no pact or agreement had ever been arrived at in any shape or form by Nawabzada Liaquat Ali Khan. The Pact, however, did not die.

Must Be Published

It came before the public again almost immediately after the announcements of the Wavell plan and the subsequent discussions and controversy. Mahatma Gandhi himself referred to it quite specifically within a few days of the Wavell announcement. During and immediately after the Simla Conference, the air including that of Simla was thick with it and the press, including the Muslim League press, was full of it. Nawabzada Liaquat Ali's "attention" was apparently inaccessible during all those weeks because he never said a word about it. Only now has he managed to have his "attention" "drawn" to it in a reference that Mr. C. Rajagopalachari recently, but not for the first time, made to it. This is the second significant point about the handling of the problem of the Pact by Nawabzada Liaquat Ali. The third significant point is that while the Nawabzada's earlier repudiation was quite categorical, his present statement is far from being so. Indeed, even though he does not affirm it, he carefully refrains from denying the Pact. Obviously a pact or agreement had been arrived at. The real issue that the Nawabzada now raises is that of the terms. He suggests that he has always insisted on the right of the League exclusively to nominate Muslims. Since he knew that the Congress Party included Muslim M.L.A's, too—the Deputy Leader and the Chief Whip are Muslims—the Nawabzada's explanation means that he made a definite reservation against the right of the Congress to nominate Muslims from its own quota. Did he do so? The reports and references to the Pact that have so far appeared suggest a negative answer. But the controversy has gone on long enough and we again endorse the plea for the publication of all the relevant papers recently made by Mr. Abdul Qaiyum Khan.

Wanted An Inquiry

For weeks past there has been an incessant demand in the press and among the students and teachers of the province for an inquiry into the last matriculation results of the Bombay University. And we learn that the Syndicate is to consider the question soon. We earnestly hope an impartial inquiry will be instituted without any further delay. Indeed, such an inquiry ought to have been undertaken immediately after the results were made known to the Syndicate, as on the results of the inquiry must necessarily depend the question of further steps to be taken in the matter. As soon as a sharp and sudden drop was noticed in the percentage of passes from 54.5, the average of the last seven years, to 37.4 in the present year a case for an inquiry was established. The case became stronger when it was found that over 50 per cent of the candidates were ploughed in English alone. Where small numbers of candidates are concerned sharp deviations from a recent average may be common. But when the number of candidates was over 33,000 a sudden and sharp deviation must, according to the common principles of probability, be extremely rare. The presumption must then be rather that there was some fault in the examination or some sudden deliberate change in the standard of passing than that there was a sudden deterioration in the students' preparation. An inquiry may conceivably decide that there was nothing wrong in the examination. But it has to be made in a case like the present. It should have been made weeks ago. But it is better late than never. For the rest, we shall await the decision of the Syndicate.

HINDUSTAN SCOUT ASSOCIATION—FOUNDATION DAY

(By K. G. VAIDYANATHAN)

The Hindustan Scouts, very nearly fifty-thousand in number, scattered over the whole Province, will be celebrating the 27th July as 'Foundation Day' as on that day seven years ago this National Association was founded.

There was a time in the history of Scouting in this land, when our boys and girls were not admitted into the great World Brotherhood of Scouting, because it was thought by the originators of the movement that the Indian boys and girls could not understand and appreciate the principle of Scouting nor put them into practice. It was then, that the late Dr. Annie Besant of revered memory and Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, the greatest of living patriots, took it up as a challenge and started the Indian Boy Scout Association in the South and the Seva Samiti Scout Association in the North.

The movement started by these two great nationalists became so popular that thousands of boys and girls all over India joined it and vindicated the honour of India as a nation. As all popular movements do, it soon came to the notice of the Government of this country. Later, however, be it said to the credit of the late Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, the founder of the Boy Scout movement, that he realised the injustice done to the Indian youth and welcomed the Indian Scouts to join the International Brotherhood.

The Seva Samiti Scout Association was not quite satisfied with the "bona fides" of the offer of the Chief Scout Baden-Powell and chose to remain apart as it felt that this merger might interfere with the national character of the Association.

The Indian Boy Scout Association founded by Dr. Annie Beasant, however, joined hands with the Boy Scouts Association, generally known as the B. P. Association, in the hope of making a really great Brotherhood of scouting.

DAWN OF NEW ERA

This experiment, as the later years showed, did not prove quite successful. Repeated attempts were made at various intervals to adapt the movement to the growing needs of the country, but it found itself bound hand and foot in an atmosphere of officialdom, supported and encouraged by the policy of Government predominantly imperialistic in intentions. Finally, when it found that it could no longer continue to be member of the B.-P. Association, consistent with the self-respect of India as a nation, it broke away from it and reconstituted itself as the Hindustan Scout Association, in response to a united public demand.

The Seva Samiti Association, which all these years remained apart, welcomed this revolt and in the interests of having one united Youth Movement for the country, made a supreme sacrifice of effacing its individuality and amalgamated itself with the Hindustan Scout Association.

Thus, it has been made possible to have a united National Movement. This marked the dawn of a New Era in National Scouting.

The Hindustan Scout Association has the good fortune not to be a political movement. It is predominantly patriotic and national in character with an international outlook. It is engaged in trying to supply our motherland with the good citizens she needs. India is on the threshold of her freedom. The nearer she draws to her freedom, the more she would need good citizens of the type the Hindustan Scout Association is endeavouring to prepare. Hence the 27th day of July, the day it was founded seven years ago is a day of rejoicing for all those who are interested in building a New and Free India.

American Economy In Post-War Period

(BY PROF. J. J. ANJARIA.)

One of the most significant developments of the inter-war period has been the steady increase in the United States esonomic and financial power. The present war has strengthened this trend further by increasing vastly that country's capacity to produce and also the financial resources at its disposal. Britain has for several decades now been facing the problem of propping up what may be called a senile and rigid economy. London's importance as a financial centre has also shrunk. Britain's foreign holdings will have fallen by the end of the war by some £4,000 million; her productive capacity has been seriously impaired. The problem for Britain, therefore, is to increase her competitive power so as to hold her own in outside markets and, if possible, to expand her export trade so as to maintain a high level of employment at home. The U. S. and the U.S.S.R. seem to be marked out as the two greatest economic powers of the post-war period. The latter has her own special problems and ways of dealing with the same. Here is, therefore, a case apart. There is thus hardly any doubt that the U.S. holds the key to the world's prosperity in the near future. To that country falls the lot of at least the capitalist part of—the world's economic leadership, and her economic and financial policies are a matter of vital interest for practically the whole world.

From this point of view the recent study entitled "The United States in the World Economy" by the U.S. Department of Commerce deserves special attention. The volume presents a "comprehensive and authoritative analysis" of the U. S. balance of payments in the inter-war period and indicates the measures to be adopted in order to mitigate the expected scarcity of dollars in the post-war years. An adequate supply of dollars is necessary for other countries desiring to import from the U.S. for purposes of rehabilitation and/or development. It is also in the interest of the U.S. to adopt a policy which would secure this, for the alternative is a breakdown of the world's economic system and a revival of the bad old restrictionist and autarchic policies all the world over resulting in general impoverishment. The stability of the world's economic system and perhaps the future of capitalism depends upon whether the U.S. will follow hereafter a policy of such enlightened self-interest as to stimulate enterprise abroad or whether she will remain highly protectionist, refusing to take goods from other countries and making the transfer problem impossible of solution. But, further, as we shall see, the present difficulties of the U.S.A. have also a wider significance.

How is the problem to be met? As this study points out, the two main sources of instability and disturbance in the international dealings of the United States have been: (1) the extraordinary amplitude of fluctuations in domestic economic life, reacting on purchases of foreign goods and services; and (2) erratic capital movements, reflecting shifts in America's interest in foreign investments and the foreigners' demand for American securities and cash balances. In the interests of the United States as also the world, steps have to be taken to steady both these but the two are interdependent. "A fuller and more orderly process of economic development in the United States would promote and, in turn, be facilitated by a greater degree of stability and prosperity in our international transactions".

The report recommends the following measures for increasing the flow of dollar supplies to other countries: (1) An increase of imports, especially of raw materials and semi-manufactured goods necessary for a further development of the U.S. economy; (2) Higher raw material prices; (3) Stimulation of service transactions; (4) Participation in post-war relief and rehabilitation in Europe and Asia; (5) A sound international investment programme; (6) Reduction in U.S. tariff.

Let us comment on these briefly seriatim. The first point needs no elaboration. The world shortage of dollars can be obviated by an increase in U.S. imports; the question only is as to the capacity of the U.S. to absorb more and more of these consistently with the requirements of full employment at home. As to (2) above, the argument runs in terms of the inelasticity of the U.S. demand for imports, so that a rise in their prices means a larger rather than a smaller total outlay. This implies that if the outside producers of raw materials charged higher prices, they would be able to get a larger total income in the shape of dollars. It is in the interests of the U.S. to promote measures such as international commodity pools which would help to maintain prices of primary products. (3) Another way to increase the supply of dollars to the outside world would be for the U. S. to become a debtor on service transactions account. If the U.S. could utilise foreigners' services on a large scale, she would have to pay for them in dollars. The scope for such expansion of dollar supplies is, however, limited. Since the last war, the U.S. has been developing more and more along the lines of self-sufficiency. The export of American capital in the post-war period is likely also to stimulate the export of American technicians who, in fact, would like to make remittances to their dependants at home. This would add to the difficulties of the situation. Her shipping services are extensive. During the present war, her ship-building activity has increased enormously. There will, therefore, be no need for the U.S. to make use of other people's shipping services to any significant extent. Then, again, most of British investments in the U.S. have been sold off, so that there will not be a large outflow of dollars by way of interest payments on this account. American expenditure on foreign travel is a possible source of increase in dollar supplies, but evidently this cannot amount to much.

The really important items, therefore, are (4) and (5) above. The relief and rehabilitation work in Europe and Asia can absorb large quantities of U.S. exports, but here, again, the U.S. will have to find some formula, such as the lease-lend during the war, to enable these countries to receive aid without having to pay cash. In any case, this factor would be important for just a few years after the war, and the only way, therefore, of finding an outlet for surplus productive capacity in the U.S.A. without causing a breakdown in foreign exchanges is for that country to lend capital abroad on a large scale. The terms on which this may be done is a matter for further investigation, but it is clear that such loans would help the lender as well as the borrower, the former to make a good use of an export surplus, the latter to develop industrially and add to its purchasing power. (6) The last and not the least important measure is the liberalisation of American trade policy, for high tariffs hinder imports and prevent a relaxation of similar restrictions by other countries.

The question only is: will the U.S.A. follow such a policy of enlightened self-interest? The opposition of U.S. bankers to the International Monetary Fund proposals indicates the conservatism of big business in such matters. We cannot, however, ignore the fact that there is an identity of interest between the U.S. and the industrially backward countries of the world. During the present war, President Roosevelt had the imagination to devise the Lease-Lend system which solved the problem of the scarcity of dollars. Perhaps, a continuation of some such system after the war would be desirable from the point of view of economic stability in the U.S. But, the U.S. would insist on some quid pro quo, and this would mean, in plain language, that she would in time become "the owner" of a large proportion of the plant and equipment set up in the backward countries of the world. Would these latter like it? And, should they?

Moreover, if we go down to fundamentals, the present problem in the U.S.A. appears only ironical. The difficulty for her is not scarcity but plenty. The scarcity of dollars which the world has to face is due, in fact, to U.S.A.'s capacity to produce and export much more than the rest of the world can take, unless its purchasing power is increased. It is obvious that the problem could be alleviated considerably, firstly, by redistributing wealth in this country of enormous inequalities, and, secondly, by reducing the hours of work so as to afford leisure and scope for creative work for the masses. But, such measures can hardly be mentioned in a capitalist-ridden country like the U.S. Talking of full employment, Lord Keynes envisaged a stage when the rate of interest would go down to zero and the mere owner of capital would get no return, whatever. Why should not this process of the 'euthanasia of the rentier' be begun in the U.S.? Is it not the present class structure of society and the dominance of vested interests that come in the way? The measures for alleviating the shortage of dollars recommended above would be helpful only for a time; in the long run, he who lends must ultimately take back, and this can only be done by allowing an excess of imports over exports. The alternative is indefinite extensions of loans, but even so, interest payments would set into operation a flow of goods into the lending country, and the old problem would emerge again. This analysis of the problem of dollar scarcity or what we may call 'difficulties of plenty' suggests two conclusions. Firstly, that the survival of capitalism in the post-war period depends upon whether the U.S. will have the courage to adopt a really liberal—almost charitable—policy and whether the needy countries of the world would in their immediate interest agree to accept an arrangement which would, in the long run, make them but vassals of a mighty economic imperialism. And, secondly, even from the point of view of the U.S., though this cannot be argued here, the problem is really insoluble in the long run save in terms of a socialisation of production.

JAPAN'S TERMS FOR PEACE

Punitive Clause In Atlantic Charter Must Go

LONDON, July 26. (Reuter): Japan would make peace if the United States adopted a more lenient attitude than that of "unconditional surrender", said a Tokio Radio broadcast to the United States picked up here today, reports Reuter from New York.

"Should America show the sincerity of putting into practice what she preaches, for instance, in the Atlantic Charter, except its punitive clause", the broadcast said "The Japanese Nation—in fact the Japanese military—would automatically, if not willingly follow in stopping of the conflict".

TRUMAN TO OUTLINE SURRENDER TERMS?

LONDON, July 26. (U.P.I.): According to a Washington report, President Truman has definitely received a peace offer from Japan. Senator Kenneth Cherry revealing this, said that a "High military authority" had told him that peace feelers had been received from Japan. He added, that on the basis of these feelers, a letter had been sent to President Truman at Potsdam urging him to outline the specific surrender terms. Senator Cherry refused to identify the military authority or the person who wrote the letter.

STALIN CARRIES PEACE OFFER

The New York magazine "News Week" to-day stated that Generalissimo Stalin took a Japanese peace offer with him to Potsdam. As price of Soviet non-intervention, the Japanese offered to withdraw from Manchuria in favour of Moscow, says the magazine.

"Moreover, the Japanese offered to 'recognise the principle of independence' for Indo-China, Burma and the Philippines and submit to American occupation of Korea and even Formosa. The Japanese made one condition—that the Japanese islands should remain free of American invasion and occupation".

BLUE-PRINT FOR JAPAN'S DESTRUCTION

The final blue-print for the destruction of Japan is taking shape as Lord Louis Mountbatten, Supreme Commander, South-East Asia, is discussing Britain's part in the Far East war during his visit to London, where he has flown after the Potsdam talks.

Military observers in Washington expect a thorough "departmentalising" of the Far Eastern war, with the British taking full control of both arms of the pincer closing in on Japan's southern conquests, to be one of the major military developments of the Potsdam Conference, cables William Hardcastle, Reuter's special correspondent, from the American Capital.

The statement by a British military spokesman in the United States foreshadowing the splitting of the war theatres North and South of the Philippines, and the disclosure that Admiral Mountbatten has taken part in the Potsdam talks, are interpreted in Washington says Hardcastle, as a virtual confirmation that the present fighting in Borneo and the prospective assaults on Malaya, Sumatra and the Celebes would be put in Lord Mountbatten's hands.

ALLIES INVADE PICKET ISLAND.

The Japanese news agency reported to-day an Allied landing on Puket island, which lies close to the Western shore of the Siamese strip of territory which divides Malaya from Burma.

The Siamese island of Puket also known as Junk Ceylon, is North of the upper entrance to the Strait of Malacca, about 600 miles from Singapore and about 650 miles South of Rangoon.

MANCHESTER, July 26 (Reuter): The remaining strength in capital ships of the Japanese navy is not known, but it may well, "according to some Judges, be non-existent" declares the "Manchester Guardian" in a leader to-day, commenting on the recent Japanese naval losses.

CHOLERA STILL RAGING IN CHUNGKING

But Death Rate Decreases Due To Improvement In Medical Service.

CHUNGKING, July 25 (Reuter):—Thanks to improvement in medical services, the death rate from cholera among patients in Chungking has been greatly reduced although the epidemic is still plaguing the city unabated, according to Yang Chuan, the Secretary-General now in charge of the Chungking Municipal Government.

Concerning the city's electricity supply he revealed that five new generators, with a capacity of a thousand kilowatts each, are on the way to Chungking from India and would certainly help to solve the problem of power shortage.

LABOUR SWEEPS POLLS IN BRITAIN

Amery Takes Defeat With Stoic Calm: Dutt Loses Deposit

defeat of many of the big names of the Government, early casualties being Mr. Amery, Mr. Brendan Bracken (one of Mr. Churchill's closest friends and lieutenants), Mr. Hore-Belisha and Mr. Harold MacMillan.

Liberal hopes of revival were dampened from the early results, and virtually eliminated later when the co-leader of the Party, Sir William Beveridge, of Social Security fame, failed to be elected.

In contrast, the Labour leaders all strengthened their position—a typical example being Mr. A. V. Alexander who converted a 3,000 majority to 10,000.

"PERMANENT FIXTURES" TURNED OUT

Many Conservative candidates who had sat so long in Parliament that they were regarded as "permanent fixtures", found themselves outside and even Mr. Winston Churchill, the National hero, had more than 10,000 votes against him in favour of an "unknown" independent farmer, Mr. Alfred Hancock—although Mr. Churchill was elected with still a comfortable majority.

The only other prominent Conservative Ministers to be returned were Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, and Mr. Oliver Stanley, Colonial Secretary.

DOZEN MINISTERS LOSE

Close on a dozen Ministers were defeated, including Sir James Grigg, the War Minister and former Finance Member of the Government of India.

Most Labour leaders, on the other hand, were re-elected, including Mr. Attlee, Mr. Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labour in the Coalition (and the possible new Foreign Minister), Mr. Herbert Morrison, the Home Secretary in the Coalition and the man Mr. Churchill said he was least sorry to see go when the Caretaker Government was formed.

EXPERTS CONFOUNDED

At Birmingham where nearly a dozen Conservatives had been entrenched, the swing round was cataclysmic. Manchester repeated the story of Birmingham—confounding election experts who had made their estimates upon constituency history.

The most notable aspect of the election was the heavy Labour poll in many agricultural and rural districts whose feudalistic heritage in the past had been reflected in a stubborn Conservative vote that no Labour canvassing could shift.

Other points from the election were: Mr. Churchill's majority was 17,200 at Woodford.

Mr. Attlee had a majority of 6,780 in the East London Division of Limehouse.

Both Mr. Bevin and Mr. Herbert Morrison won what were expected to be difficult seats by good margins.

Amery On His Defeat

BIRMINGHAM, July 26. (Reuter): Mr. Leopold S. Amery, Secretary for India since 1940 is no longer a member of Parliament, cables Gyilym Parry, Reuter's special correspondent.

He was defeated today by the Labour candidate in the Sparbrook division of Birmingham which he had represented for the past 34 years.

Mr. Amery took his defeat with stoical calm and seemed less upset than many of his party supporters.

The result of the poll declared this morning was:

Alderman Percy Shurmer (Labour)—14.065. Mr. L. S. Amery (National Conservative)—8,431. Mr. R. P. Dutt (Communist)—1,853.

There were 49 spoilt papers. The total vote was 24,398. Mr. Dutt lost his deposit as he did not poll sufficient votes.

Mr. Amery's son, Captain Julian Amery, who was contesting Preston as a Conservative was also defeated by a Labour candidate.

After the poll had been declared Mr. Amery said: "There have been great changes in the position of Sparbrook electorate during the last few years and no doubt these have accentuated the obvious strength of the tide against the present Government in Birmingham. As there is no difference between the policy for which I have been responsible and that of the Labour Party on the India issue that did not affect the issue at all.

"The most that one can say is that the Communist candidate's attack on my Indian policy obviously had no effect."

The new Labour member, Alderman Shurmer was given a tremendous ovation from his supporters assembled in the square in the centre of the city. He took his triumph modestly though his committee workers were jubilant and mobbed him as he posed for a photograph in the streets.

work a day for everybody, polled 27 per cent of all votes against the Prime Minister, one of the greatest figures of history. It appeared that the average citizen was determined to turn out "the old Tory gang."

Veteran politicians described the election as a middle-class revolution.

The defeated ministers include Brendan Backen, First Lord of the Admiralty, L. S. Amery, Secretary of State for India, Geoffrey Lloyd, Minister of Information, G. S. Summers, Secretary for Overseas Trade, Lesley Hore-Belisha, Minister of Social Justice and Sir James Crigg, War Minister.

Amery was beaten by the Labourite P. L. Shurner, who had a majority of more than 5,000. The Communist Party's candidate, Palm Dutt, was behind with only 1,854 votes.

Sir Stafford Cripps, whose name has been mentioned as future Secretary of State for India, was re-elected in Bristol with more than 17,000 majority.

There are now two Communist members as against only one in the last Parliament.

Mr. W. Gallacher, who was the only Communist in the last Parliament, has been re-elected at Fife Western by a 2,056 votes majority.

At Mile End (London) Mr. Phil Piratin beat both Labour and Conservative opponents to become the second Communist member.

Mr. H. Pollit, Secretary-General of the Communist Party in Britain, was defeated today.

Mr. Emanuel Shinwell, one of the Labour Party's most prominent members who often takes an independent line in Parliament, was re-elected.

Sir William Beveridge lost by 1,962 to a Conservative.

One of the few Liberal victories was that of Lady Megan Lloyd George, daughter of Britain's former Prime Minister.

At 16-00 G.M.T. (10-30 p.m. I.S.T.) there were but ten orthodox Liberal members returned from 300 candidates.

Liberal Nationals who support the Government also suffered badly. Their leader in the Commons, Mr. Ernest Brown, lost his seat to Labour at Leith in Scotland.

Labour members who take special interest in Indian affairs in Parliament did well. Sir Stafford Cripps had a majority of 17,902 against a Conservative at Bristol East.

Mr. Reginald Sorensen, leading Labour member of the India League Group of members in the Commons, had a 3,708 majority over his Conservative opponent and Mr. W. G. Cove a consistent spokesman for the Committee of Recognition on Indian Independence and Mr. Rhy Davies, Welsh Nationalist, also got home by good margin.

Sir Stanley Reed (Conservative) was re-elected, but Sir John Wardlaw Milne (Conservative) who once took a prominent part in public life in Bombay lost by 7,149 to Labour. Sir George Schuster, a former member of the Viceroy's Executive Council, also went down to Labour.

A NEW VENTURE

A new enterprise in the metropolis of Bombay is proposed to be launched in the shape of a full-fledged Departmental Stores, modelled after Woolworth of Great Britain, offering to the public under one roof its manifold services, rendering shopping easy and comfortable. A company going by the name of "The Departmental Services Stores Ltd." has been floated with an influential directorate composed of reputable business magnates, leading Bankers, well-known Industrialists and specialised executives. The company has also secured the sanction of the Central Government for raising the necessary capital.

It is the ambitious programme of the management to develop the Stores on scientific lines, making it a magnificent avenue that would store almost everything and anything, so that one may walk into the Stores with confidence and may be able to purchase almost anything from "A pin to a piano.".

To house, stock and conduct a stores of such a magnitude, three things are necessary, viz. a large building in an important locality, an adequate stock of consumer's goods of every available type and description, and an efficient management to handle such a gigantic project.

Obviously for a place of the required size in one important locality, they will have to wait till the Japanese war is over. In the meanwhile, the promoters propose to take up a running concern, having a fairly large premises.

The stores would command as many as 40 to 50 Departments to begin with. It would involve investment of lacs of rupees and would need watchful supervision over purchases and sales. To avoid the element of risk, they propose to allot some of the departments on monopoly basis to capable firms or manufacturers, subject, of course, to the general supervision and direction of the management.

The persons interested in this project may contact the company at 41, Bruce Street, Fort, Bombay.

CLEAN SWEEP OF AMERY REGIME

progressive and, I hope, successful."

Dr. Rajendraprasad said: "The election results, particularly Mr. Amery's defeat, will be welcome in India, not so much because there is hope that Labour will do something big and sensational, but because Mr. Churchill and Mr. Amery have proved themselves thoroughly reactionary and inimical to Indian aspirations, and a change under such conditions is always welcome.

"Let us hope, however, that the change will not be a change from King Stork to King Log. We want active and genuine sympathy which can express itself in acts and not in mere words. With the big majority which Labour has now secured, its professions will be put to the test."

T.U.C. CHIEF'S WELCOME

CALCUTTA: The President of the All-India Trade Union Congress, Mr. Mrinal Kanti Bose, welcomed heartily the British Labour victory. "The working classes of India have special reason to be gratified, not because they have any reason to be satisfied with the British Labour Party's policy towards this country, but because they feel that the same world forces which have wrought for British Labour's thumping victory over the forces of reaction will assuredly move India rapidly forward to the goal of her freedom."

MAKES NO DIFFERENCE

BOMBAY, July 26 (A.P.I.)—Sir Cowasji Jehangir said: "My personal opinion is that the result will make no difference in the position in India. Everything in India depends upon ourselves."

Dr. N. B. Khare, a member of the Viceroy's Executive Council who is at present in Poona, welcomed the swing to the left. But he said: "I do not entertain hopes of any immediate change in India's position, nor do I expect any help from the Labour Party if past events are any criterion."

Mr. V. D. Savarkar, the Hindu Sabha leader, said: "Though startling, the results of the British elections cut no ice for us."

SASTRI HAPPY

MADRAS.—"I am very happy to note the results of the British general election," observed the Rt. Hon. V. S. Srinivasa Sastri rising from his sick bed when approached by a representative of the "Associated Press of India" for his reaction on the results.

Mr. Guruswami, General Secretary All-India Railwaymen's Federation, in a statement says: "The British Labour Party assumes today a tremendous responsibility for shaping the future destiny of the working classes of the world by virtue of the key position Britain holds today. We trust that the expectations of the long exploited workers of the world would be realised by a revolutionary change in the outlook of the British Government towards longstanding colonial problems and the evermenacing power politics of European countries."

CLEAN SWEEP OF AMERY REGIME

LONDON, July 26. (Reuter): Prof George Catlin, well-known politician, in a Labour victory message to India, told Reuter: "The election represents a clean sweep of the Amery regime Labour Party now has superior opportunity to display its determination to forward those progressive and anti-imperialist plans on which it has fought this and every other campaign since the Party was established."

Mr. P. B. Seal, Chairman of the Committee of Indian Congressman in Great Britain, said: "Quite clearly the electors have voted for Indian independence, not merely by rejecting Mr. Amery, but by rejecting the Churchill Administration. I am optimistic that India will get exactly what she wants within the next few months".

cribed Mrs. Sabavala who organised the function as 'unbeatable.' As the first citizen he extended a cordial welcome to the guest of honour. He gave a brief sketch of Mr. Horniman's journalistic career.

In those days he said it was rare enough for an Englishman to espouse the Indian cause, but to undergo social boycott, privations and even deportation was unique.

It was thus that Mr. Horniman had become a legend and an institution in his own life-time. The 'Sentinel' was the watch-dog which had undertaken the task of fighting for and defending the privileges of the under-privileged and the oppressed.

Sir Homi Mody, in a speech, replete with humour, which sent the audience into peals of laughter observed that he was one of the earliest men who knew Mr. Horniman. One of the articles by Mr. Horniman in the 'Chronicle' was entitled 'Sir Chimanlal's Awakening'. Being a smaller man, however, the speaker was favoured with only occasional paragraphs. But those paragraphs put him in his place, so it could not be said that he had come there in gratitude for favours received. But he was there to express his gratitude and admiration for what Mr. Horniman had done for the country and for the cause of Indian journalism. He suggested that even now the Editors of newspapers and the owners thereof should express their appreciation of Mr. Horniman's services in a more concrete form. Referring to the importance of a free and fearless press so that democracy might survive, Sir Homi recalled his convocation address on the subject of the freedom of the press, which was later repeated by Mr. S. A. Brelvi in his presidential address to the All-India Newspaper Editors Conference. He humorously added, "if anybody reads Mr. Brelvi's address they will see that more than half the speech is my own." (Laughter).

WOMEN'S TRIBUTE

Mrs. Hansa Mehta said that the 'Chronicle' still enjoyed the great reputation built up by Mr. Horniman. She added that the 'Chronicle' was Mr. Horniman's creation. She joined in the tributes on behalf of Indian women.

Mr. M. A. Master, President of the Indian Merchants' Chamber said that Mr. Horniman always stood up as a great journalist and a great public figure. When the history of the present times will be written he would be remembered as a valiant fighter on behalf of the oppressed and the down-trodden.

ON BEHALF OF JOURNALISTS

Mr. S. A. Brelvi extended greetings on behalf of the journalists of Bombay and the whole of India.

Mr. Horniman, he said, had the appreciation and the admiration of millions in this country. He was a powerful exponent of India's freedom; the traditions which he created held good even today. Fearlessness and a strong sense of justice were the chief characteristics of Mr. Horniman's journalism which had landed him in difficulties every now and then throughout his career. Mr. Horniman came to India at a time when India was denied the most elementary democratic rights. He had truly served the cause of India. Men like Mr. Horniman, he concluded, would be remembered forever for the part they had played. His memory would be cherished forever.

Mr. Jamnadas Dwarkadas also associated himself with the sentiments expressed by the previous speakers.

HORNIMAN'S REPLY

Mr. Horniman in a feeling reply said that he was overwhelmed by all the kind sentiments expressed. Fifty years, he said, was a long time in the life of any individual. Whatever struggles, sufferings and battles he had passed through he found that it was worth it due to the appreciation and the kindness that he had received from the public.

"I will not lay down my sword or call it my pen", he said, "till I see India free."

During the last thirty years, he had always hit hard and hit straight. But whatever he wrote was without any malice or prejudice.

His life during the last fifty years had been full of struggle, activity and turmoil. He hoped it would continue to be the same.

Recounting what he had said at the reception given to him by the Progressive Group, when he had said that he hoped to write the first leading article when India became free, Mr. Horniman said: "During the last few months events have taken an adverse turn, but still I hope that I will live to do it."

Mr. Horniman said that his love for India was foremost and would continue to be the guiding factor throughout his life. For this he was prepared to face social obloquy hardships and difficulties of any nature.

Mr. Horniman was besieged by autograph-hunters.

Hyderabad Police Arrest Glass Expert In City

C. P. M. Holds Arrest Illegal And Discharges Accused

BOMBAY, Thursday.

An arrest was effected in the city by the Hyderabad police and the Chief Presidency Magistrate discharged the arrested person on the grounds that the arrest was illegal.

Mr. Nemola Ganpath was a glass expert and technician drawing about Rs. 500 in the Hyderabad National Industries. He was being prosecuted before Mr. Rege in Sixth Additional Court at Esplanade for breach of trust and falsifying of accounts of the Hyderabad National Industries. He had appeared in the court and was going out of Esplanade Police Court on Tuesday when he was arrested by the Hyderabad police.

When he was produced before Mr. Oscar H. Brown, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Mr. K. K. Shah appearing for him said that the arrest was illegal since the police had no warrant to make the arrest. Mr. Shah said that this kind of arrest without permission from the court endangered the civil liberties of the people. The idea behind the arrest as pointed out by the advocate is to get back the expert under pressure to take up his job again in the concern.

The police officer from Hyderabad said that he had a warrant from the Hyderabad Magistrate to investigate into the case. The Magistrate held that the arrest was illegal and discharged the accused.

Gay Comedy Of Theatrical Down-And-Outs

at

The Regal: 1st Run

"Molly And Me". '20th Cen. Fox)
Stars: Gracie Fields, Monty Woolley

This bright comedy brings back to us the sweet and charming Gracie Fields, paired, once again, with the irascible Woolley.

Gracie plays the part of Molly, a one-time vaudeville singer, down on her luck, who manoeuvres herself into the position of house-keeper in the home of an elderly political candidate (Woolley). On the night of an important political dinner party, she finds herself without domestic help, having fired the rest of the staff for their dishonesty. She hurriedly calls in the aid of her other down-and-out theatrical friends. All the fun now begins with the erstwhile thespians bringing their stage tricks into their new jobs.

The divorced wife of the master of the household suddenly turns up, demanding hush money or threatening to create a scandal on the eve of his election. How the one-time actors employ their stage-craft in order to put the female blackmailer to flight, provides a hilarious climax.

Gracie Fields brings warmth and quiet humour to her role. Her songs in this film are, unfortunately, not worthy of her talent in that direction. Woolley, for once, is considerably restrained. The rest of the cast give these two excellent support.

If you want a hearty laugh, by all means see this picture.

War-time Vaudeville Comes To The Screen

at

The New Empire: 1st Run

"Tonight And Every Night" (Columbia).
Stars: Rita Hayworth, Lee Bowman
Director: Victor Saville.
Music: Sammy Cahn, Jule Styne.

This picture depicts the part, played by the variety stage of England in keeping up the morale of audiences 'tonight and every night' during the blitz. There are some spectacular dance and songs numbers and a slight story about one of the players (Rita Hayworth), being loved by a fellow player and wooed and won by a pilot officer (Bowman) who is also loved by another trouper (Janet Blair). The disappointed twain are killed in a 'pub' during an air raid just before a performance. Sorrow wrenching at their hearts, the show folk 'carry on with the show' in keeping with the good old tradition of the theatre world. The entire story is played to the background of falling bombs and masonry.

The stars do quite well in their roles. The courage of the English during the worst period of this war, has been well brought out. But the variety numbers, shown on the screen, lack the robust flavour typical of English vaudeville. All in all, however, this is a worthy celluloid effort combining stark reality with light entertainment. Some of the small-part players give notable performances.

Uproarious Family Saga

at

The Excelsior

"Roughly Speaking" (Warner Bros.)
Stars: Rosalind Russell, Jack Carson.
Director: Michael Curtis.

In this picture, we have the story of a bold and bouncing spitfire of a woman, Louise (Rosalind Russell) with a husband (Carson) who is as reckless as his spouse. The stormy petrel begins her career by defying her boss (Allan Hale) and ends it by parking cars at the New York World Fair. In the interim, the well-matched couple raise a family of high-spirited children who can hold their own with their parents.

"Roughly Speaking" has been adapted from Louise Randall Pierson's autobiographical novel, by the authoress herself. Hence it is a faithful version of the book. It is certainly a change from the usual run of family screen plays.

All the actors enact their roles with gusto. Outstanding is Jean Sullivan as one of the children who is stricken with infantile paralysis, yet keeps her spirits up according to the best rules of the family.

Tarzan Frolics Among Women Warriors

at

The Strand: 1st Run

"Tarzan And The Amazons."
Stars: Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce.

Here is a fantasy from the fertile imagination of Hollywood scribes, based on the characters created by Edgar Rice Borroughs.

We are shown a strange land, in a hidden African valley, inhabited by Amazons who fight while their men toil. Any intruder into this domain of female superiority, has to pay with his life.

A group of scientists arrive to the jungle along with Tarzan's mate, Jane, who is returning from a trip to England. They fail to persuade Tarzan to lead them to the world of the Amazons, but Tarzan's son offers himself as guide. The expedition brings disaster and death to all the members except Tarzan Junior, who is rescued, in time, by his father.

Weissmuller seems to have accumulated more weight since his early Tarzan days. However, it does not seem to have affected his suppleness; he is still quite nimble at jungle acrobatics and as bold as ever when it comes to killing lions and crocodiles. Brenda Joyce, the new Jane, is somewhat disappointing. Johnny Sheffield, as the son, is precocious, cocky and very American.

This is the right picture for those who seek to wander into the realm of pure fancy.

DeMille's Costume Extravaganza Returns

at

The Eros

"The Sign Of The Cross"
Stars: Frederic March, Elissa Landi, Claudette Colbert, Charles Laughton.

This ten-year old adaptation of Wilson Barrett's famous religious play, is in the best DeMille tradition of lavishness and spectacle. It depicts, graphically, the trials and tribulations of the early Christian martyrs and the pomp and circumstance of a decadent Rome under the rule of Nero. Particularly noteworthy are the arena scenes showing Christians being thrown to the lions, and the scene where Nero fiddles while Rome burns.

The story tells of the love of Marcus Superbus, the Prefect of Rome (Frederic March) for Mercia (Elissa Landi) a Christian girl who arouses the jealousy of Nero's empress, the wicked Poppaea (Claudette Colbert), who desires Marcus for herself. In the end, the Prefect, unable to save Mercia, takes her in his arms and together they go to face death by the lions.

The splendid cast lives up fully to the reputation it had when this film was made. A great picture well worth seeing again.

MAHATMAJI'S MIRACLE

Readers are requested to help us in making this prescription known to one and all young and old, rich and poor by showing this paper to their friends, relatives and neighbours. By doing so they will be doing a good service to their motherland.

I am the son of a respectable and well-to-do man. In my prime of youth due to self negligence I fell a prey to various diseases I secretly sent for medicines from gynecologists whose eloquent advertisements resounded in the newspapers but of no avail. I gave up all hopes and longed for death. By chance fortune knocked at my door. I happened to go to Kashmir on business. One evening while airing I happened to reach the foot of a mountain two miles from Srinagar. Suddenly I saw a Hairy Mahatma coming towards me. Seeing me in a hopeless condition and shivering with cold he inquired the nature of my illness in such a loving tone that I confided in him my long hidden secret. The Mahatma took me to his cottage and there dictated to me a prescription.

ALMIGHTY TO WITNESS

I prepared the prescription one in the form of tonic pills and the other in the form of a massage oil. Only week's treatment cured me. Although by the virtue of this short treatment I could find it too hard to restrain myself, yet I was compelled by the Mahatma to undergo the full course for 15 days which gave me a manly vigour and new youth. Before parting with the prescription the Mahatma had made me promise that if I were relieved of my trouble, I would place my services for the welfare of Mankind. According to my promise I am advertising this medicine in every nook and corner of India. This medicine cures like magic all diseases such as loss of manly power, weakness, diabetes, weakness of nerves and veins. In short this medicine gives true health and vigour. If you want to enjoy the prime of your youth in old age, you must try this medicine. It can be taken in any season. It does not contain any harmful or intoxicant ingredient.

Price for 15 days course:—
Kashmiri Pills .. Rs. 5
Kashmiri Massage Oil .. Rs. 3

I am not a doctor nor a Vaid nor this is my occupation. This medicine have saved me from the jaws of death. It is a sin for me to make any profits from the sale of this medicine according to the advice of the Mahatma. Address:—

"Congress Wanted Co-operation Of All Parties"

Kripalani Says Its Prestige Didn't Stand In Way Of Settlement With League

ALLAHABAD, July 26 (U.P.I.)

The Congress did everything in connection with the move for co-operation with the Muslim League. If at all prestige stood in the way of a settlement, as indicated in a press report, it was the prestige of the Muslim League leader who, when telephoned by a member of the Working Committee at the instance of some of the League members did not react favourably to the call.

Thus declared Acharya J. B. Kripalani, General Secretary of the Congress, in an interview to the "United Press of India" on the press report that "prestige" stood in the way of a Congress-League settlement in Simla.

So far as the Congress was concerned, Acharay Kriplani added it wanted co-operation of all parties and it was absolutely incorrect to say that Congress prestige stood in the way of coming to a settlement with the Muslim League.

Asked if in view of the special conditions prevailing in Bengal the Congress Working Committee would allow the Congress party in the Bengal Assembly to help in the formation of a popular ministry in the Province. Acharya Kripalani said he thought that the Committee might not stand in the way if the formation of such a Ministry could really alleviate the distress of the people of Bengal.

Textile Mill Shares Move Up On Active Professional Buying

BULL SYNDICATE INCLINED TO OFFER SEPTEMBER COTTON

Bullion Market Declines On Moderate Selling

BOMBAY July 26.

Neither small decrease in the total note circulation nor quietness in Government Securities, discouraged bulls to bid up cotton mill shares on the Bombay Stock Exchange. It was a known fact that short sales in Dyeings were being transferred every week, suggesting covering in due course. Steel shares are being gradually unloaded and the market was irregular. Simplex, Swadeshi and Kohinoors gave a good account. Imperial Bank shares again spurted.

Cotton was quiet on little selling by the Syndicate while Bullion declined on liquidation. Groundnuts well in demand.

On the Bombay Stock Exchange today quotations advanced sharply in Cotton Mill shares on persistent bidding up by some leading operators. Particularly Simplex and Swadesh shares were in good demand. Steel shares also after yesterday's technical downward reaction, found replacement buying and the market exhibited good undertone.

Tata Steel Defds opened steady at Rs 2.265 and advanced to Rs. 2275. Ordinary shares recovered to Rs. 423. Bombay Dyeings opened at Rs. 1966 and hardened to Rs. 1975. Kohinoors were quoted at Rs. 626 and Simplex shares firmed up to Rs. 304.

Later on there was renewed liquidation in Steel Shares which wiped off the improvement and quotations were pressed under previous day's level but managed a small rally at the close. Cotton Mill Shares were a feature and Bombay Dyeings received good support and after advancing to Rs 1980 closed at Rs. 1976/4. Simplex managed a good support and after advancing to Rs. 304/8 closed at Rs. 302/8. Imperial Bank Shares moved up in the Banking Section. The session at the close somewhat irregular but tone was very steady. Cash section did not disclosed any important departures.

BOMBAY COTTON

The local cotton market opened today at Rs. 432 for September delivery and after declining to Rs. 430/8 steadied at Rs. 430/12. It was reported that the Syndicate sold about five thousand bales. The September contract is virtually useless for hedge purposes as it is risky to hedge any cotton which is not likely to go through tenders. Thus now there can be no question of short selling and those who are short will do well to cover at an early opportunity as the Syndicate will not spare them. It is true that the future of cotton prices entirely depends upon fixation of floor and ceiling prices but this has nothing to do with September contract.

Towards the close there was small buying and the market closed at 6 p.m as under:—

Removal Of Export Restrictions On Egyptian Cotton

ALEXANDRIA, July 25, (Reuter).

The promise of the Egyptian Finance Minister, Makram Pasha, to do his best to abolish restriction over cotton exports is not regarded in Alexandria cotton circles as likely to come into immediate effect. At present there are many buyers but only two, Britain and America, have cash or credit and they will continue to buy through cotton co-ordination. Exports are therefore likely to continue in the same way as hitherto for some time.

"WILL TO WIN"... Long before this war began, the traditional valour and bravery of India's seamen and soldiers was respected and admired throughout the world.

Now, alongside these brilliant reputations, the evergrowing achievements of India's airmen are adding further laurels. The highest traditions of Indian gallantry are being maintained by pilots of the Royal Indian Air Force. Courage, intelligence, and the will to win are predominant characteristics of their make-up. Today they are smashing the Japs. Tomorrow they will form the nucleus of India's post-war aviation pioneers. More of their type are wanted now by the Royal Indian Air Force. Any Recruiting Officer will tell you how to apply.
